"We still have a vote in November to make this an official election."

In the District 1 Supervisor's race, Graham won with 677 votes to opponent Packer Ladner's 545.

"I want to thank the people of District 1 for their support," Graham said. "I believe our turnout was really good in District 1 — similar to the primary, minus just a few. People really came

The family of a 21-year-old Georgia man who died in December after being shot by a Hancock County deputy has filed a wrongful death lawsuit against the county, Sheriff Ricky Adam, the former deputy who fired the fatal shots and five other defendants listed as "John Doe 1-5."

The family notified the sheriff's office in May of its intention to sue for wrongful death.

Meth lab bust at Bayside

SEA COAST ECHO

Officers of the Hancock County Sheriff’s Office Narcotics Division busted a meth lab in Bayside Park last Wednesday, the first in about a decade.

“It is with mixed emotions that we announce the dismantling of a clandestine methamphetamine manufacturing lab in the Bayside Park Community,” according to a statement on the sheriff’s office Facebook page. “Why mixed emotions? Although we are overjoyed to shut this dangerous operation down, it has been at least 10 years since we’ve seen the precursor hustle and had to deal with these meth making criminals. The thought of these labs returning to Hancock County has our narcs fired up.”

Justin McKnight, 30, of Bay St. Louis, was charged with possession of a controlled substance, and was being held on a $30,000 bond as of Thursday afternoon.

An initial hearing in the matter has been scheduled for Sept. 19 in Hancock County Justice Court.

Nevada man found guilty of trying to strangle woman in Waveland

SEA COAST ECHO

A Nevada man was convicted Thursday of trying to strangle his girlfriend during a 2020 incident in Waveland.

District Attorney W. Crosby Parker announced Friday that 32-year old Nicholas Robert Wagner of Nevada was found guilty this week after a two-day trial of felony Aggravated Assault Domestic Violence.

Judge Lisa P. Dodson presided over the trial at the Hancock County Courthouse.

The jury heard that around 8:30 p.m. on Sept. 28, 2020, the Waveland Police Department responded to the assault that occurred at the Aloha Trailer Park.

The victim testified that Wagner, her boyfriend at the time, attempted to strangle her, slammed her on the floor, dragged her by her hair, and poured household cleaner on her head.

The victim also testified that the assault did not stop until a neighbor came to their door, which allowed her time to escape. Officers found the victim emotionally upset with red marks on her neck, bruising on her body, and a laceration on her leg consistent with the victim’s account, officials said. The injuries were photographed by investigators and shown to the jury.

“The jury also heard from a neighbor who testified she saw injuries on the victim after the victim fled from the home, and that Wagner admitted to the neighbor that he attempted to choke the victim. After the incident, the officers later located Wagner at (a local motel) in Waveland with a friend and immediately took him into custody,” said ADA Chris Daniel who prosecuted the case with ADA Haley Broom.

After the jury’s verdict, Judge Dodson ordered for a pre-sentence investigation to be conducted by the Mississippi Department of Corrections and set sentencing for September 18, 2023 in Gulfport. “Wagner faces a possible penalty of two to twenty years in prison for the attempted strangulation,” said ADA Daniel.

New CASA Anchors program offers new way to support Hancock’s foster children

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

CASA of Hancock County has begun a new fundraising program to help ensure every child in the Hancock County foster care system gets the support he or she needs.

“The CASA Anchors program offers a new opportunity for people to support CASA,” Executive Director Cynthia Chauvin said last week.

CASA of Hancock County provides abused and neglected children with quality advocacy in the court system and to secure a safe, permanent, and nurturing home for them by recruiting, training and supporting a diverse network of Court Appointed Special Advocate volunteers.

While the number of children in Hancock County’s foster care system has significantly decreased, over sixty children at any given time are currently in foster care in Hancock County. These children come into the child welfare system through no fault of their own. Over 70 percent of the cases involve neglect because of substance abuse/addiction.

“The needs of Hancock County’s children coming into care are more complicated than ever before, and life in foster care can be chaotic,” Chauvin said. “Every child deserves the support of a caring, consistent adult with the training to help them heal and thrive.”

While CASA conducts fundraisers at various points through the year, she said, the number of staff members and volunteers is limited, which makes it challenging to raise the amount needed to keep the program going.

Currently, there are several children in Hancock County foster care who do not have a CASA representative working on their behalf.

“We’ve had to tell (Youth Court) Judge Favre we can’t take any more kids right now because we’re at full capacity,” Chauvin said.

Currently, CASA cares for about 85 children in foster care, and 20 others still in their own homes, but going through the process.

April Parker, a CASA board member and co-chair of the Anchors program, said it allows people to donate any amount, through a monthly donation.

“If you could give just $10 a month, it could add up quickly,” Parker said. “Your regular donation, no matter the amount, could make a world of difference for a child and family. One child at a time, we can break the cycle of child abuse.”

“This is a new way for people to support us,” Chauvin said. It’s going to grow over time. Every $10 or $20 adds up and helps the children.

Those who want to sign up for the Anchor program can donate via PayPal, Visa, Mastercard, American Express or Discover.

To sign up to be a CASA Anchor or for more information about CASA of Hancock County, visit www.casahancockcounty.org or call 228.344.0419.

Keep Waveland Beautiful seeks public’s input on placement of Live Oaks

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

The members of Keep Waveland Beautiful are seeking the public’s input regarding the placement of about 32 live oak trees.

KWB Member Jim Meggett said the group would like to mimic how the oaks are planted down Nicholson Avenue on another street.

“We are asking the citizens’ input on where to have canopies of live oaks and be willing to take care of it for the first year,” he said.

KWB and the city will supply tress, water bags, and planting, Meggett added.

The city’s ordinance 379 — which can be found at www.waveland.ms.gov — addresses the preservation of Live Oak and Magnolia trees.

A permit is required prior to a tree removal and will be issued only if the “tree or trees opposed to be cut are diseased, injured, in danger of falling and causing destruction or damage to an existing structure, interferes with utility service, creates unsafe vision clearance, is currently causing damage to an existing structure or property, is structurally unsound or dangerous, or for such other good cause as shall be determined by the city,” the ordinance states.

If the permit is granted, the applicant will be required to relocate the protected trees to another location upon the site; and/or replace the protected trees which will be destroyed with replacement trees elsewhere within the site, the ordinance states. If the replacement trees cannot be planted on the site, then applicants can donate them to the city.

“During (Hurricane) Katrina we lost about 100,000 trees,” Meggett said. “I hate to see people cutting down trees. An oak tree can absorb about 80 to 200 gallons of water a day. Waveland talks about drainage. The amount of trees allowed to be cut down could fill an Olympic-sized pool. And the trees are not around to soak up the water anymore. If the city lets them cut down trees, we can try to mitigate the damage. The trees help cool off and purify the environment. We plant some now and in 10 years they’ll be pretty good sized. We are privileged enough to be put here and should leave the planet better than we found it.”

Citizens can send their nominations to kwb@waveland-ms.gov.

The next meeting is scheduled for Sept. 16 at 10 a.m. at the Waveland Library, located at 345 Coleman Ave.

THE SEA COAST ECHO | Thursday, August 31, 2023

A MEANINGFUL JOURNEY

The first installment of “Meaningful Measures” ran in the Aug. 17 edition of the Sea Coast Echo.

It is currently a monthly feature highlighting inspirational people in Hancock County who are nominated by other members of the community.

Our Facebook post generated a TON of nominees, which says a lot about the people of Hancock County.

Instead of the usual bickering one often finds on social media posts, there were a lot of people saying good things about members of this community who perform acts of kindness without asking for any kind of reward or recognition.

One thing social media has done is given the “peacocks” a chance to flaunt their “good deeds” all over the place. It always makes me wonder if the good works come from a place of sincerity or the desire to be in the spotlight and exploit the actions for personal or professional gain.

Note: I have absolutely nothing against peacocks. They are wonderful animals. My grandparents raised them on their farm in Kentucky and it was always fun following the hens around looking for their nest.

What this new feature story does is elevate the voices we never hear much from. The ones who are working behind the scenes in our county inspiring people with their every day activities and personalities.

I had not met Laronne Lewis Sr. and Charles Hawkins prior to our interview. We had such a lovely time, sprinkled with peals of laughter.

This gives me the opportunity to meet more people in our little community. Even though I was born and raised in Bay St. Louis, I don’t know everybody. Although, during some of my trips to Walmart, someone will recognize me as a Favre. Just last week, I also ran into one of my favorite teachers from elementary school who complimented me on one of my stories. You’re never too old to feel proud when a respected educator gives you some praise.

Lewis’ and Hawkins’ podcast Da Chop Shop is centered around uplifting young men in this community and giving them the opportunity to let their voices be heard. They are also teaching them meaningful lessons that can be applied during their youth and well into adulthood.

Their story is also on our website, if you want to check it out.

Hancock History: Orphan Train

In the mid-Nineteenth Century, the cities of the Northeast, such as New York City, experienced a shocking number of abandoned and homeless children roaming the streets. They were mostly the children of new immigrants or children of the poor and destitute families living in these cities. In 1850, there were an estimated thirty-thousand homeless children in New York City. Children would try to sell matches, rags, or newspapers to survive, and others joined gangs for protection against street violence.

In 1853, a young minister, Charles Loring Brace, founded the Children’s Aid Society. Because the number of homeless children was so overwhelming, Brace came up with the idea of sending these children in New York City to rural areas in the Midwest for adoption. The first “Orphan Train” arrived in Michigan on October 1, 1854. Forty-five children were adopted by families, and the first orphan train experiment was considered a success. Midwestern farm families typically had large families. The Children’s Aid Society sent three thousand children a year each year from 1855 to 1875.

In 1875, the Sisters of the New York Foundling Hospital joined the Orphan Train Movement started by the Children’s Aid Society in sending what they named “Mercy Trains” westward, and for the first time, to the Southern States. These children would be adopted or be indentured servants to rural farm families.

The Sisters expected these farm families to provide food, clothing, and living space in return for the orphan’s help with the chores or work on the farm. The Sisters also had the agenda of placing these orphans with Catholic families. Priests at the target towns would coordinate the match of the individual orphan to the prospective parents. The recipient family might even request a child of a specific sex, hair and eye color, and complexion. Babies were the easiest children to place.

Two orphan trains came through Bay St. Louis in 1909 and 1910. Among the orphans brought here were Willie J. Adams, Annie Richter Adam Graham, Margaret Oakley Fayard Cuevas, John Korcinsky Lawrence Damborino, and Thomas Michell Luc.

Margaret Oakley Fayard Cuevas was born in New York City in 1908. Margaret was indentured to Mrs. Almida Fayard on September 14, 1910. Sadly, Mrs. Fayard passed away in 1914; but her son, Freddy, and his wife, Sidonia, reared Margaret. Margaret went to school in Bay St. Louis and married Monroe Frank Cuevas

Honoring labor’s history, paving its future

Guest Column

By Kurt A. Petermeyer

For many, 136 years of history have clouded the reasons behind the Labor Day holiday. More than a time for cookouts, President Grover Cleveland signed legislation in 1894 that set aside the first Monday in September to recognize U.S. workers’ contributions to the nation’s strength, prosperity and well-being.

The holiday celebrates how America’s workforce has raised the nation’s standard of living and provided the labor that historically has made U.S. production the envy of the world. Backed by the organized labor movement, workers have fought and, in some cases, died for better wages, safer workplaces and paid benefits for all workers. These sacrifices fueled movements that eventually led to the creation of the U.S. Department of Labor’s Wage and Hour Division in 1938 and its Occupational Safety and Health Administration in 1971. It brought us closer to the realization of our traditional ideals of economic and political democracy. Based on these accomplishments, the nation pays tribute on Labor Day to the creator of so much of the nation’s strength, freedom and leadership – the American worker.

These gains notwithstanding, there’s still more to do. Thousands of people suffer fatal injuries on the job each year and many more are injured in incidents that could be prevented if their employers established safety and health as a core value and followed federal workplace safety standards. In workplaces around the nation, people are working in conditions that expose them to risks of serious injuries or worse: construction workers are exposed to deadly falls; healthcare workers are threatened by patients; warehouse workers risk suffering ailments from repeatedly moving merchandise; temporary farmworkers face threats and unsafe living conditions in exchange for hours of hard work tending to crops in the hot sun.

Notably, we have seen an increased number of young people and even children working in dangerous conditions, almost 100 years after federal child labor protections became law.

Issues like these can and must be addressed. Amid its many functions, the department exists to enforce the rights of everyone and ensure safety and health protections are applied equally to all who work in the U.S. These include the right to a safe workplace and the right to be paid full wages and benefits. When these rights are violated, the department acts to uphold the law and hold employers accountable when they disregard their obligations.

As many of us enjoy a day this Labor Day, reflect on how much better your working conditions are because of the workers who came before you and who demanded change. We owe these people our commitment to do our part to make sure all U.S. workers receive all their hard-earned wages and that no one ever has to jeopardize their safety, or life, in return for a paycheck.

minor injuries during the encounter. In accordance with department policy, investigators from the Mississippi Bureau of Investigations are leading the investigation. The identity of involved individuals is deferred at this time. ... Our agency will be fully cooperative with the investigation being conducted by the Mississippi Bureau of Investigations."

The deceased subject was later identified as Isaiah Winkley.

Brandon, Miss. attorney Lance Stevens — representing Winkley's parents, Rev. Dwight Winkley and Catherine Winkley — filed the suit in U.S. District Court, Southern District of Mississippi, in Gulfport on Tuesday.

The deputy who shot Isaiah Winkley, since identified as K-9 Deputy Michael Blackwell, resigned from the sheriff's office effective May 24, Adam said in June.

"Any time there's a loss of life in an officer-involved shooting, it has to go to the grand jury," Adam said. "It will be presented to the grand jury and those 16 men and women will make the decision whether (the shooting) was justified or not.

"It's all on video, and they have it, and they will make their determination. We respect the process."

However, the Winkley family claims neither the sheriff's office nor the Mississippi Bureau of Investigations has allowed them to access or review the video recordings of the incident.

According to the lawsuit, the "facts" of the case are that, on Dec. 10, 2022, at around 6:30 a.m., Isaiah Winkley "was traveling in or near Perkinston, Miss., on St. Matthew Church Road, in front of St. Matthew the Apostle Church, near the intersection of Hwy. 603, when his vehicle apparently left the road, quite slightly, and became stuck in mud. Isaiah began to walk down that road, in those early morning hours, looking for help. By all appearances, he happened upon an unoccupied residence searching for means to rescue. A witness saw Isaiah on the porch of the residence with a come-along, a hand-operated winch with a ratchet used to pull objects that are stuck.

"At around 7:20 a.m. that same day, at least three officers or deputies of the Hancock County Sheriff's Office were called to and did arrive at the residence ..., based upon an alleged report of a possible burglary at that home."

The suit says the "deputies approached Isaiah Winkley, a person believed to be a trespasser on the subject property, who was a 21-year-old senior at Pensacola Christian College at the time, with guns drawn. Isaiah is not believed to have any criminal history whatsoever nor did he possess or own a firearm. At all relevant times, Isaiah's hands were visible to the officers.

"Isaiah, a gangly young man, presented no immediate threat to the deputies or others, either with his physical movements or in his language. Deputies had not witnessed any act by Isaiah which could be mistaken as violent or threatening."

The suit says Isaiah had not drugs or alcohol in his system and was no closer than 20-25 feet from the officers, flanked by two deputies with another in front of him, "all with guns drawn."

"Without provocation, warning or justification, one of the deputies, believed to be Blackwell, fired five rounds into Isaiah's body. What is believed to be the fifth of the rounds entered and exited at a trajectory which would indicate Isaiah was shot while lying face down with his head positioned away from the shooter."

The suit claims the "lethal force used by the deputy(ies) was clearly excessive, constituted a reckless disregard for Isaiah's safety and welfare and constituted a severe deprivation of Isaiah's civil rights and liberties under the Fourth and Fourteenth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution," and that the "deadly force used by defendants against Isaiah was unjustified and objectively unreasonable under any circumstances."

The suit claims that Hancock County is liable to the wrongful death beneficiaries up to the $500,000 statutory damage cap set by state law. It also seeks damages that "include, but are not necessarily limited to, all funeral and burial costs, all medical expenses arising from Isaiah's shooting, all pain and mental anguish caused by Isaiah's death, all past and future loss of support, all past and future loss of companionship and society and the net present value of Isaiah's reasonably anticipated loss of earnings over his lifetime." It also seeks all costs and attorney fees and court costs.

A lawsuit details only one side of a legal dispute.

MEET TINA!

This petite but mighty 6 year old Boston Terrier/Staffie mix is one of the longest residing dogs at our shelter - 456 days! It took the justice system over a year to terminate Tina's owner's custody of her. The moment sweet Tina was free of her court hold, we jumped into action...she was spayed, microchipped, and began fast-kill heartworm treatment in a loving foster home. We are excited that on June 6th, Tina tested heartworm negative Tina has had every reason to have given up hope for a real home and family a long time ago, but this happy girl is a resilient, loving, affectionate, beautiful dog with an exuberance for life that can only be admired! She is great with other friendly dogs and loves people, including kids. She is medium sized, weighing in at 42 lbs. She is house, crate, and leashed trained. This smart cookie figured out the doggie door in 1 day! She loves romping-n-playing and exploring the outdoors, so we do recommend that she joins a home with a fenced backyard. A family dedicated to taking Tina for walks and including her in their fun activities and adventures is a must. She has missed out on so much in life, but as we've told her repeatedly, "Your wonderful new life begins now, Tina!" If you have any questions about Tina, or wish to schedule a meet-n-greet, please call our front desk at 228-466-4516 (Mon-Fri 10am-4pm), as she is in foster care and not at the shelter.

The Blessing of Work

By REV. C. GERALD RICHARDSON, D. MIN

C. Gerald
Richardson, D. MIN.

There are many kinds of meaningful work which are important to the vitality of our communal life. Sometimes work is done at a desk or in front of a computer. Other times it is done in the blazing sun in an open field. Some work takes place under the earth in dark mines or beneath city streets. Wherever work is done, when it is honest and honorable, it is worthy of praise, and it contributes to the welfare of humanity.

It is appropriate that we have a national day of observance to recognize and pay tribute to the work that people perform, and to those who perform it. It is also important to support policies and practices which acknowledge the contributions made by those who keep things moving.

Too often our culture is motivated and guided by some whose intent it is to take advantage of those who actually do the work. It is unjust when corporate greed results in executive compensation which can be hundreds of times that of the workers who deliver the goods. Fairness, workplace safety, adequate medical care, and decent retirement benefits should be seen as basic expectations rather than as generous gifts from benevolent masters.

We need the contributions of all. There are visionary leaders, and they are important. There are innovative managers, and they provide great value. There are the many workers in the trenches, and nothing of substance would be accomplished without them. The point, of course, is that we need each other. Too often we lose sight of that truth in the stunted vision of self-interest.

The Christian scripture makes the noble declaration that “the laborer is worthy of his hire”. It was true when it was written over two thousand years ago, and it is still true today. It is really a matter of mutual respect. It represents an awareness that all are important, all make a contribution, and all have worth. This is a spiritual reality. It is as old as the human family. It is present in some way in most of the religions of the world. It recognizes human value. Sometimes we do this well. Sometimes we do not. Some religious traditions are more advanced in this regard than others. All of us are called to the high goal of placing value on humanity. An observance of Labor Day is one small way of doing that.

I am thankful that our nation has set aside a day to honor those who do the work that is needed. During this week may we pause to remember and whisper a prayer for those whose work makes our lives better.

evacuate. “Every time I come in this building and we talk about resilience,” he said. “That’s what’s makes me so proud to be part of Waveland and part of Hancock County. Because resiliency is the ability to come back quickly from difficulties, a toughness, being able to bounce back. It’s been 18 years, but Waveland’s coming back strong. It’s the resilient people that make Waveland what it is today.”

Trapani read a passage from a book that he felt correlated with the experience felt by those who survived Hurricane Katrina.

“Most people who have gone through difficult periods in their life come to later wear those experiences as badges of honor,” he said. “As tough as those periods were, they were ultimately formative experiences. It made those people who they are. There’s another benefit of so-called misfortune. Having experienced and survived it, we walk away with a better understanding of our own capacity and inner strength. Passing a trial by fire is empowering because you know that in the future, you can survive adversity. What does kill me makes me stronger.”

Fr. Sebastian Myladiyil, former pastor of St. Rose de Roma Catholic Church and served during 2005, was Tuesday’s guest speaker.

He is now the pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Greenville, MS. He wrote about his own Hurricane Katrina experiences as well as others from the community in his book “Blown Together: Trials and Miracles of Katrina.”

Myladiyil said he was grateful to be invited back 18 years after this “historic event.”

He belongs to the St. Augustine Seminary, which works in about 84 different countries.

He came to St. Rose in the early 2000s.

“Life at St. Rose has been such a beautiful experience for me,” he said. “Things were going wonderfully well for us at the church and in Hancock County.”

Myladiyil remembered everyone being anxious about Hurricane Katrina and it being talked about as the “perfect storm.”

“For me it was dilemma and for us priests, weekends are the busy time,” he said.

Myladiyil said the diocese encouraged them to leave.

“But then I decided to stay,” he said. “I did the Saturday Mass and then Sunday morning, seven o’clock Mass and then normally, our nine o’clock Mass is standing-room only. We only had 30 or 40 people because most of the people had evacuated the area.”

Prior to the Mass, Myladiyil said he was praying and decided to take the Sacrament Read or Prayer Book Four.

“There is one prayer that is titled ‘To Avoid The Storm,’ he said. “So I decided to take that particular prayer for the opening as well as the concluding prayer. And the prayer goes this way, ‘Father, all the elements of nature obey your commands. Calm the storms that threaten us and turn our fear of your power into praise of your goodness.’”

Originally, Myladiyil planned on evacuating to a friend’s home in Baton Rouge. However, the traffic was backed up and redirected to Hattiesburg.

“I did not know anyone in Hattiesburg so I decided to turn back and come to Bay St. Louis,” he said.

Myladiyil said he rode out the storm at St. Augustine’s Seminary.

“After several hours of wind and then rain, we began to see water rising all around us and we had no idea what the cause of this water was, but we were thinking it was because of the force of the rain, things like that,” he said. “But as the water was coming onto the first floor, we were forced to move to the second floor.”

Myladiyil said the seminary is located in probably the highest point in Bay St. Louis and many had parked their vehicles in the nearby soccer field.

“Then you could see from the second floor, all those cars were toys just floating around,” he said.

After several hours, he said, the water receded and they surveyed the destruction.

“Those feelings are beyond words to put into,” Myladiyil said.

The next day, he went to check on St. Rose Church, hoping it would be there.

“I saw the steeple of the church was standing and I was so grateful,” he said. “As it came closer, I saw that the windows were blown into and the roof was blown back, but I was able to use my own key and open the glass door that was facing the Gulf.

At the back of the church was water that had come through. But halfway through the church, I found that the church was just as I had left it. On the altar, that sacrament read, the prayer book for the Mass, was left open in the exact location as if the prayer was looking back at me.”

Myladiyil described the experience as “powerful” and it was as if God said “Everything was going to be okay.”

Myladiyil said that none of St. Rose’s facilities were flooded and they opened them for people to use.

“The amazing outpouring of people’s goodness, generosity, personal initiative, organizations and churches all reaching to offer to lend a helping hand,” he said. “I didn’t organize, it just happened. It was just like we were responding to situations that presented themselves before us, because we did not have any kind of blueprint. In my mind, it was like God was making a way and we were foolish if we let it slip through our hands. So you catch those moments and let it play itself out and that is what we did.”

Myladiyil said they ensured people had basic essentials, making sure their homes were safe to return to, and then rebuilding.

“In this book, I try to say, when you talk about a storm or hurricane, you think about being blown away or blown apart,” he said. “Our experience was that we were drawn together and God was in the midst of it all and we saw the power of human resiliency and faith and trust, all those being played out.”

After Myladiyil’s presentation, museum board secretary Donna Martin recognized outgoing museum director Linda Aiavolasiti.

“On behalf of the city of Waveland and the museum, we would like to thank you for your ten years of service as a volunteer and as a director for Waveland’s Ground Zero Hurricane Museum,” Martin said.

Aiavolasiti will retire mid-September.

“It’s actually been a pleasure,” Aiavolasiti said. “Everyone that I have been associated with, both the city of Waveland and the museum, it’s all been like family.”

There is no Democratic candidate for the November race, so Shaw essentially won reelection on Tuesday. Hancock Circuit Clerk Kendra Ladner Necaice said there are 23 affidavit ballots and four voter ID ballots left, not enough to change the outcome of either of the races. The election results must be certified within five business days, Necaice said.

BHS Tigers fall 29-26 against Resurrection Eagles

BY PAYTON NELSON
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

The Bay High Tigers (4a) traveled to Gautier on Friday night to play against the Resurrection Catholic Eagles (1a) in a hard fought game that was riddled with penalties.

The Eagles received the first kick which went behind the back pylon for a touchback. The Eagles made quick work of this drive, having some great rushing plays and an athletic dive over the middle of the defensive line by senior Daniel Pickens for the goalline touchdown.

The Eagles then kicked the ball off with a forward onside kick that was picked up by senior Alex Harris and brought five yards to the Tigers forty yard line. The Tigers rushing game was strong during their first drive with Antoine getting sixteen yards and senior Benny Williams getting six until the ball was knocked loose on the sixth rushing attempt by Eagles defenders who recovered the ball leading to another touchdown and a successful two point conversion putting the Eagles up 15-0 halfway through the second quarter.

The Tigers received the next kick off and it was received by Williams who brought the ball to the 24 yard-line. The Tigers marched down the field and scored a touchdown with a twelve yard reception with the connection of juniors Xander Ladner and Jaylen Antione to put them on the board for the first time of the night.

As the Eagles received the ball they could only manage to make it to the Tigers forty and missed a fifty-seven yard field goal attempt leading to a turnover on downs giving the Tigers another shot at scoring before half time. Ladner started off the drive with a 15 yard completion to junior Avery Harris putting the tigers across the fifty yard line. Following was a rush that was stopped up the middle leading to the ball being stopped at the line of scrimmage. The next play, Ladner dropped back in the pocket and threw to Harris who broke a tackle before running thirty more yards down the field for a forty-five yard passing touchdown to put the Tigers down by two with twenty seconds left in the half. As the Tigers lined up for the point after two flags from both teams happened on two concurrent plays leading to a missed field goal from the Tigers which made the score Resurrection 15, Tigers 13 at half time.

To open up the half Tigers senior Benny Williams received a kick from the front of the end zone and ran through the Eagles’ special team and made his way to the opposite end zone for a kick return touchdown for one hundred yards putting the tigers up 19-15.

As the Eagles received the ball they gained a quick ten yards before being stopped on the next three plays leading to a punt to the Tigers where they managed to make it across the field until senior tight end Hayden Hearty scored a goal line passing touchdown over the center of the field. As they received the ball on the kickoff they were able to get across the field and score once more after some big passing gains and a touchdown from a goal line dive from Daniel Pickens.

The Tigers received the ball and were forced to punt on fourth and long giving the Eagles the chance to score once more during the middle of the fourth quarter for the last time with a pass to Pickens.

The final drive for the Tigers was ended by a deflected pass leading to an interception ending the football game 29-26 with the Eagles taking home the victory.

After the game Tigers Coach Jeremy Turcotte said, “Passing game looked fairly well tonight... We shot ourselves in the foot constantly. We had two really bad turnovers in crucial situations. Overall too many mistakes, my hat goes off to Resurrection, they played an incredible game, they had a great game plan, they’ve got an excellent team and at the end of the day they outplayed and out coached us.” He went on to congratulate Resurrection as well as talk about some of the discipline that the Tigers were lacking during the game. He takes partial responsibility but at the end of the day it was just too many mistakes and Resurrection had a patient gameplan. After being asked about how he planned on bouncing back to prepare for their crosstown rivalry game against St. Stanislaus next Friday he stated, “Honestly it does not matter who we play whatsoever if we don’t handle our business it doesn’t matter who the opponent is. I’m all about we’ve got to take care of ours and we’ve got a lot of cleaning up to do and a lot of soul searching to do. We have to get a good week of practice to get ourselves moving in the right direction.

Hawks wallop Bulldogs 42-20

BY JOSEPH KEYS
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

On a hot and muggy Friday night at Tom F. Williams stadium in Natchez, the Hancock Hawks, defeated the Natchez bulldogs by a score of 42-20.

Hancock was led by the outstanding performances from seniors Dylan Moran and Zach Gullung. Moran completed 10 of 19 passes for 220 yards and four touchdowns. Gullung rushed for 185 yards on 25 carries.

The special teams unit forced three consecutive turnovers, a bosh punt and two on-sides kicks with just over three minutes left to play in the second quarter. The turnovers led to 21 points, which allowed Hancock to take a commanding 36 to 6 lead into the halftime locker room. Hancock’s only score of the second half came on a nine-yard touchdown run by Gullung.

Hancock’s Head Coach Neil Lollar stated that “this was a great overall victory for our team. (They) handled the travel and the heat very well. Our defense and special teams put us in great position all night. Moran made some good throws all night, and Zach is Mr. Steady. Our receivers played outstanding, as well.”

The Hawks will take their 1-0 record on the road next week to take on the Moss Point Tigers while the Natchez Bulldogs will travel to McComb for a battle with the Tigers.

Rocks open the Lala era with a 31-6 victory over Forrest County AHS

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
STAFF WRITER

The Saint Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws opened the Tim Lala era with a victory 'between the walls' at the Brother Philip Memorial Athletic Complex beating Forrest County AHS 31-6.

The game was highlighted by the Rocks' quarterback Ian Gonzalez Rioz who was playing in his first American football game. In the game, Rioz electrified the crowd by rushing 13 times for 197 yards and four touchdowns.

SSC head coach Tim Lala commented, "In tonight's game, there is a lot to be proud of and we can see a lot that needs to be worked on. There are three seasons in a high school season - pre-region, region, and the post season. This was the first step in the first season. I think the defense earned the game ball tonight. We started a little slow on offense, but we were able to find a groove. Next week, we travel to Bay High. The focus must be the task at hand. We do not need to be distracted as we prepare for the game which is difficult in rivalry games."

The two teams traded three possessions each to begin the game as it seemed like both teams were still knocking off some rust from the off-season. At the beginning of the second quarter, the Rocks took over at their own 31-yard line and it took just three plays to find the endzone. Rioz broke free for a 40-yard run followed by an 8-yard completion to Jaxson West. Rioz turned the corner on the third play and sprinted to the endzone on a 19-yard run with 10:35 left in the first half. Evan Noel converted on the PAT to make the score 7-0.

The Rocks (1-0) stopped the Aggies with a three-and-out and then mounted a nine-play drive that culminated in a Noel 37-yard field goal to make the score 10-0 with 4:32 left before intermission.

The Rock defense stood tall once again giving the offense the ball back. Rioz found Levi Green for a 36-yard completion before he ripped off a 16-yard scoring run with 27 seconds before halftime. Noel's PAT made the score 17-0.

The Aggies (0-1) opened the second half with a nine-play drive that ended with Rock defensive tackle Jacob Bradford sacking the Aggies for a 15-yard loss. SSC took over on the Aggies 35-yard line. It only took the Rocks one play to deliver the end result of the drive when Rioz scored from 35 yards out with 7:04 left in the third quarter. Noel's PAT pushed the score to 24-0.

The two teams traded interceptions before the Aggies found the endzone. SSC defensive back Jaden Tran picked off the Aggie pass.

FCAHS scored on a seven-yard run by Terrence Horne with 11:54 left in the game. The two-point conversion failed leaving the score 24-6.

The Rocks answered on the ensuing drive with the final points of the game. Rioz connected with Green for a 15-yard gain before Rioz left four defenders searching for their ankles as he changed directions four times before he broke free for a 43-yard scoring run with 9:27 remaining in the game. Noel's PAT made the final score 31-6.

Green led the Rocks' receivers with three catches for 58 yards. On defense, the Rocks were paced by Bradford with 11 total tackles including 1.5 sacks. Chesley Rhodes tallied eight stops while Heith Shinn and Spencer Cornell each had seven tackles.

This week the Rocks and the Bay High Tigers will renew their annual rivalry on the gridiron that dates back to 1945 in the 'Battle for the Crab Trap'. The Rocks lead the series 34-20 and won last year's contest 22-16. Last week the Tigers fell to Resurrection on the road 29-26. Kickoff at Joe D. McCullough Stadium/Tank Williams Field is set for 7 p.m. See you at the game!

TIPS FOR LABOR DAY GET-AWAYS & MORE

Labor Day marks the unofficial end of summer. Even though summer officially ends a few weeks after Labor Day, a new school year begins for most students by Labor Day, and the lazy, hazy days spent on the beach give way to a new school year.

It's no wonder that so many people want to capture the last of the summer magic before it's gone for another year; Labor Day getaways help people hold on to summer just a little longer. Explore these tips to make Labor Day trips a bit more safe and convenient.

LEAVE EXTRA TIME

Roadways are bound to be busy with other Labor Day weekend travelers, particularly for those headed to seaside locales or campgrounds. One way to avoid some of the traffic is to depart from home in the wee hours of the morning or late at night. Leave plenty of time to get to your destination so you won't be tempted to speed or drive erratically. Utilize GPS and mobile phone mapping apps to identify routes that can help you avoid traffic.

BE CAUTIOUS OF THE WEATHER

Extreme temperatures can be a concern even this late in the season. The American Red Cross urges travelers to remain hydrated by drinking plenty of fluids while en route to destinations or while engaging in Labor Day fun. Avoid strenuous exercise during the hottest part of the day. Strong storms can blow through in an instant, so keep track of weather alerts and find shelter if a thunderstorm approaches while on the beach or in other areas where lightning strikes occur more readily.

PLAN AHEAD

Labor Day vacationers number in the millions. Hotels and motels will be in demand, driving up rates, and airfare prices could soar. Book early to secure the best prices available and to guarantee you have accommodations.

CONSIDER A BUNDLED VACATION

Package deals at destinations can save you a considerable amount of money. Fly.com allows users to search the site for destination-appropriate packages that can combine airfare with hotel and car rentals to save money.

LOOK FOR LIFEGUARDS

If the plan is to swim in a lake, river or the ocean, select areas that have lifeguards available. Always swim sober and with a buddy. Even strong swimmers can be caught off guard by the power of water, which can include rip currents or rushing rapids.

WATCH

ALCOHOL INTAKE
Never drink alcohol while operating a vehicle en route to and from Labor Day festivities. Have a designated driver available if need be. Also, vacationers must recognize that alcohol can contribute to dehydration. Choose non-alcoholic and decaffeinated beverages to stay hydrated in warm weather.
